

Moscow Death Brigade and True Rebel raised 2700 Euro for the elderly and disabled

MOSCOW DEATH BRIGADE - a ski-mask wearing techno/rap/punk band from Russia, together with TRUE REBEL - a street wear brand from Germany, have raised 2700 Euro for "Enjoyable Ageing" Foundation - a Russian independent non-profit that helps the elderly and disabled, as well as given out 600 protective face masks to the homeless in Germany.

In summer 2020 at the first peak of the COVID-19 pandemic MDB and True Rebel printed and sold branded protective face masks with the logos of both, with all profits going to "Enjoyable Ageing" Foundation in Russia - one of the biggest independent non-profits, whose volunteers help the elderly and the disabled. For each mask sold MDB and True Rebel also gave out a mask to the homeless in Germany. The campaign slogan was: "Help the homeless, help the old and protect your community!".

Ski Mask G of Moscow Death Brigade:

"We are extremely grateful to our international Brother & Sisterhood for supporting this charitable cause - all of you made it reality. And special thanks to Philgood Company and our friend activist @superrrrkate for helping us deal with all the formalities and many organizational issues. COVID-19 and all the lockdowns have hit many people hard, and the old and the homeless are the most at-risk groups. Together we raised a significant amount of money that will go a long way helping the elderly through one of the most respectable and trustworthy Russian non-profits! It is not our first charity campaign with True Rebel and we are always happy to work with them."
